CELEBRATION IN BARTON HEIGHTS

Commemorative exercises celebrating the centenary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee were held last night in the new Barton Heights School before a large attendance, numbering in all about 600 persons. Mr. L. W. Rawland presided, and was assisted on the rostrum by Mayor John E. Rose and Mr. Alfred Benson, member of the Barton Heights Council.

Bryan was roundly cheered three times by the assembled school boys and girls. The unveiling of the statue was performed by Master Beauford England and Miss Star Hall.

The program was opened by a march, played by the Northside Orchestra, which was very well received. Miss Ada Kuyk followed with a piano solo, and a duet, "Sing Me a Song of the Sunny South," was very well rendered by Misses Helen Rose and Mary Williams. The whole school then joined in the old, well known song, "Maryland, My Maryland," the young voices falling sweetly into unison and harmony. Mr. James Satterwhite read a well-written essay on Lee, which was followed by a recitation, "The Sword of Lee," by Miss Sophie Currie. Miss Elizabeth Jeter read very well a selection, "Lee to the Rear." In singing the old song,

"Tenting Out Tonight," the whole school joined and the refrain was beautiful to hear.

Miss Kate Puller gave another recitation, and another selection was rendered by the Northside Orchestra. Miss Moss recited a monologue, and Miss Ada Scott sang "The Message of the Violets." A violin selection, accompanied by the piano, was rendered by Miss Reinhardt, and Miss Reinhardt. Miss Kate Puller gave another recitation, and the school sang "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." The presentation of the statue was then made by Mr. Bryan, who also personally presented the school with a United States flag, to be hoisted over the school building.

The ushers for the exercises were the young ladies of the graduating class—Misses Grace Chamberlain, Elizabeth Jeter, Kathleen Gordon, Edith Ragland, Rosalie Stone, Ollie Snyder, Mabel Ellis and Edna Griffin.

RALEIGH PAYS NOBLE TRIBUTE

Great Virginian Enthusiastically Honored by Crowds in Carolina's Capital.

JUDGE M'RAE MAKES SPEECH

Says Lee Surrounded by Great Men Stood Head and Shoulders Above Them.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., January 19.—The one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee, hero of the Confederacy, was most fittingly celebrated in Raleigh today, the old war-scarred veterans, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the Ladies' Memorial Association, the members of the General Assembly, and the people generally, joining in the great throng which assembled in the hall of Representatives of the Statehouse at noon for a program of much and appropriate interest.

The members of the Wake County Confederate Veterans' Association and the members of the Soldiers' Home marched up Fayetteville Street to the Statehouse just before noon, headed by the L. O. B. Branch Camp drum corps, the only surviving Confederate drum corps in the whole South. The old soldiers marched to such stirring music as "Bonnie Blue Flag" and "Dixie."

Colonel A. B. Stronach, of Raleigh, was master of ceremonies. A special quartet of Raleigh's sweetest singers sang "How Firm a Foundation."

The farewell address of General Lee to the Army of Northern Virginia was impressively read by Colonel J. W. Hindsdale. Following this the quartet sang "Hark, Hark, My Soul." Then Rev. J. A. Long read the poem to General Lee written by Miss Merriman, of this city.

Judge McRae Speaks.

After another hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," the speaker of the occasion, James C. McRae, ex-member of the North Carolina Supreme Court and dean of law at the University of North Carolina, was introduced and delivered a masterful address on the character and career of General Lee.

Mr. McRae declared that this was really a day of rejoicing and not sadness, for on which century years ago was born one who should set the world a shining example of pure patriotism and sacrifice of self to country. General Lee was recognized the world over as a man of surpassing genius, a peerless gentleman, a man who, surrounded by great men as he was, stood head and shoulders above them all.

After the address, crosses of honor were presented to ten veterans, the crosses being pinned on by Miss Susan Clark, daughter of Chief Justice Walter Clark and Miss Mary Armstrong Jones, granddaughter of General R. E. B. Branch. Colonel J. W. Hindsdale read the farewell address of General R. E. Hoke to his division of the Confederate army in camp near Greensboro at the time of the surrender at Appomattox.

The drum corps stirred great enthusiasm by their rendering of "Bonnie Blue Flag" and "Old Gray Horse." There were brief, but eloquent addresses by State Senator Parker Polk, and State Senator Guy Carter. Then "Dixie" was played by the drum corps, and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. M. M. Marshall, rector of Christ Episcopal Church.

LIKED IN THE NORTH.

Whole Country Coming to Honor Lee as a Great American.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 19.—Memorial services, celebrating the one-hundredth birthday of General Robert E. Lee, held in St. George's Episcopal Church here today, were of the most impressive character. Members of many Camp, Confederate Veterans, and visiting veterans, attended in a body, as also did the Daughters of the Confederacy, Ladies' Memorial Association and R. S. Chew Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans. There was a large turnout of ladies and citizens, many of the professional "Soldiers of Christ, Arise," sung by a large selected choir. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. H. Light, pastor of the Methodist Church. The hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," one of General Lee's favorites, was rendered by the choir, the audience joining in.

General Lee's farewell address was impressively read by Rev. R. Aubrey Williams, and the choir sang the selection "Come Unto Me." The address of the occasion on "The Life and Character of General Lee" was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. W. Rosebro, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and president of Fredericksburg College.

The address was eloquent and appropriate. It referred to the change of sentiment in both the North and South within recent years, citing the fact that the name of Lee is now revered in the North as it was in the South. Lee is no longer disliked in the South, the Southern people now recognizing that he was one of the greatest friends in the North that the South ever had.

After these services the veterans again assembled at the Exchange Hotel, and from there marched to the Exchange Hotel, where an elegant dinner was served to the veterans and special guests. After the tables had been cleared an address on General Lee was delivered by Judges J. T. Goehick and a number of impromptu speeches were made by others.

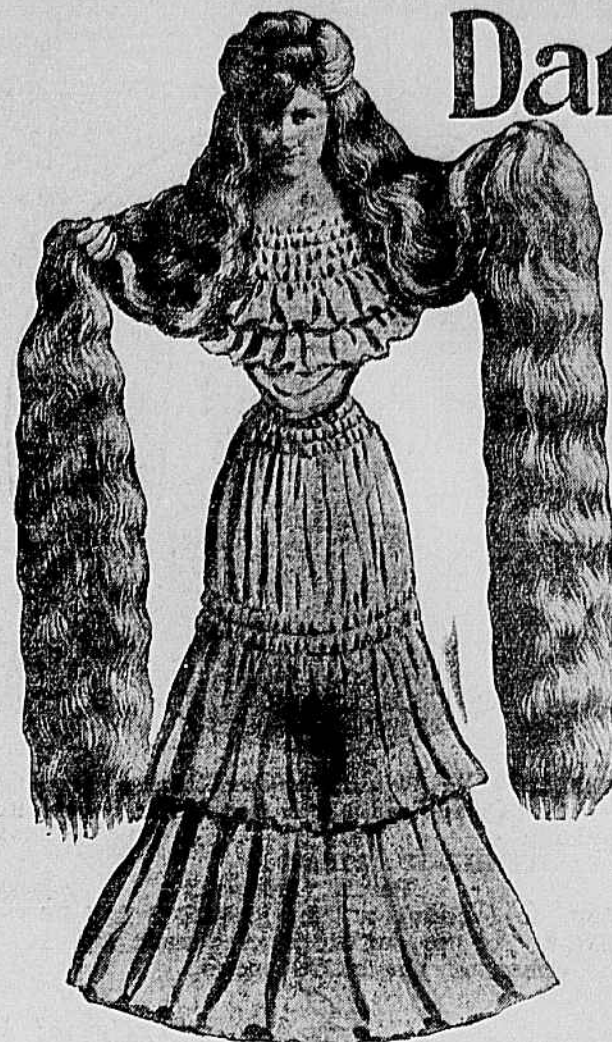

DESPITE BAD WEATHER.

Orange Veterans Hold Appropriate Exercises.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ORANGE, VA., January 19.—Memorial exercises in honor of General R. E. Lee were held here today. Notwithstanding bad weather, the Opera House was nearly filled with old Confederates and citizens generally. The meeting was under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Judges J. W. Morton, commander W. S. Grymes Camp, C. V. presided. Prayer in opening was followed by Mr. W. W. Scott and Rev. J. Wiley Blades, the orator of the day, who made eloquent addresses. The program was interspersed with appropriate music and songs. Concluded with prayer by Rev. Mr. Phannagan.

Schools Honor Him.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SALISBURY, N. C., January 19.—The birthday of General Robert E. Lee was fittingly celebrated in this section of North Carolina today. Many of the schools held appropriate exercises which were largely attended. At Albemarle a reunion was held by the Confederate veterans, who were addressed by Rev. Dr. George H. Cox, of Granite Quarry.

Died at Lexington, Rockbridge county, Va., October 12, 1870.
Entered West Point in 1825.
Graduated in 1829, without having received a demerit in the entire four years.

Commissioned brevet second lieutenant of engineers on graduation. Married Mary Custis, daughter of the adopted son of George Washington. In 1832, and thus became proprietor of Arlington. Promoted to a first Lieutenancy in 1836.

Promoted to a captaincy in 1838. Brevetted major for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, in the Mexican War; made Lieutenant colonel at Contreras, and colonel at Chapultepec. Made member of the Board of Engineers of the Army at the close of the war.

Appointed superintendent of the West Point Military Academy, September 1, 1852. Appointed lieutenant colonel of the Second Cavalry in 1855, and served against the Comanches in Texas.

At his home in Arlington in the fall of 1859, when he was ordered to Harper's Ferry to capture John Brown, which mission he accomplished. Promoted to a colonelcy in 1861.

Resigned his commission in April, 1861. In June, 1861, appointed major-general to command Virginia forces. In July, took command of the army in West Virginia, and was severely criticized by the newspapers for the failure of the campaign. Made one of the five generals of the Confederate army.

Placed in command of the sea and coast defenses in South Carolina and Georgia. February, 1862, made military adviser to President Davis. June 3, 1862, assumed command of the Army of Northern Virginia on the wounding of General Joseph E. Johnston.

Commanded at the Seven Days' battle, opening June 26, 1862. Commanded at Second Manassas, August 30, 1862. Commanded at Antietam, September 17, 1862. Commanded at Fredericksburg, December 13-15, 1862. Commanded at Chancellorsville, May 1-3, 1863. Commanded at Gettysburg, July 1, 2, 3, 1863.

Commanded at the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 6, 7, 1864. Commanded at the battles around Spotsylvania, May 8-13, 1864. Commanded at the battle of Cold Harbor, June 1, 2, 3, 1864. Commanded at the battles around Petersburg, from June 15, 1864, to April 2, 1865.

Commanded on the retreat from Petersburg to Appomattox, April 2-9, 1865. Surrendered to General Grant at Appomattox, April 9, 1865. Elected president of Washington College (Washington and Lee University) October, 1865.

The Salisbury graded schools observed the day, addresses being delivered by ex-Congressman John S. Henderson, of this city, and others.

Louisa Veterans Celebrate.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LOUISA, VA., January 19.—To-day, the one-hundredth anniversary of General Robert E. Lee's birthday, was appropriately observed here as a general holiday. Services were held in the Episcopal Church at noon, the pastor, Rev. M. S. Eagle, giving a memorial address, after which a banquet was held in the dining-rooms of the Hotel Louisa.

Louisa Camp, No. 27, Confederate Veterans, attended in a perfectly happy and at the banquet many reminiscences of the past were told. After each short speech the orchestra played the day, addresses being delivered by ex-Congressman John S. Henderson, of this city, and others.

Read Lee's Farewell Address.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FRONT ROYAL, VA., January 19.—The Warren Memorial Association and the Warren Rides Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy united to-day with the William Richardson Camp of Confederate Veterans and celebrated the one-hundredth anniversary of General Robert E. Lee's birthday. Captain R. B. Bayley read Lee's farewell address, and Rev. J. A. McClure, of Buena Vista, spoke on the life and character of Lee.

The veterans were escorted by a detachment from Company D, Seventy-second Regiment, Infantry, Virginia Volunteers.

Lee, the Christian.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, VA., January 19.—The memorial service in honor of General Lee was fairly well-attended at St. John's Episcopal Church to-day at 11 o'clock. After the reading of Lee's farewell address by Mr. E. Boyd Hudson, of the Methodist Church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Christian, delivered an appropriate address on "Lee, the Christian, the Gentleman," "wearing the white flower of a blameless life," giving to his goodness the credit of his manliness.

Woodstock Celebration.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WOODSTOCK, VA., January 19.—General Robert E. Lee's birthday was celebrated here by Shenandoah Camp, Confederate Veterans, and Shenandoah Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy. The oration was delivered by Rev. H.

From Chicken-Pox to Cholera.

Cure-Alls No Longer Tolerated.
In early days every barber shop was an operating room and the town physician was a general practitioner. He was a cure for all ailments from chicken-pox to cholera. As a result, many, including our first President, died prematurely.

The present low rate of mortality is due in large measure to the advances made in medical science and the knowledge of the specific treatment needed for each disease known.

There is a remedy for dyspepsia, and only by hygienic means. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have stood the test of years of use by millions of sufferers. There have been no governmental analyses in Europe and America and alone have been found to contain the elements which Nature has put into the stomach for digestion—pepsin, diastase and other ferments. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets relieve the stomach and bowels in a perfectly natural way by helping them to do their work. If the stomach is weak in gastric juice, Stuart's Tablets make up the deficiency. If the muscles are inactive, Stuart's Tablets invigorate them. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest every form of food entering the stomach, one grain of the active principle of these Tablets being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and other foods. They are not cathartic pills; their action is simply that of a digestive.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure nothing but dyspepsia, waterbrash, sour stomach and kindred ailments resulting from the imperfect digestion of food, but these diseases they positively cure.

We will gladly send you a trial package to prove the truth of our claims. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be gotten all druggists for 10 cents. F. A. Stuart Co., 59 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
